County Approves ARP Agreement Agree to Letter of Support for Adams Industries Federal Railroad Association Rehab Financing

Forrest Hershberger
publisher@suntelegraph.com

The Cheyenne County Commissioners discussed an Engagement Letter with Lutz & Company for consulting services regarding American Rescue Plan Act funding.

The commissioners have discussed projects they would like to use the funds for, but sought clear definition of how the ARP funds can be used. Lutz & Company evaluate what projects can be funded by ARP dollars and provide the audit as required by the Federal government. Lutz & Company bills at a rate of $200 per hour and up, with the required audit closer to $350 per hour.

Lutz & Company did not provide a total cost estimate.

County Clerk Beth Fiegenschuh said the total cost would "depend on how elaborate we want to be."

The commissioners also backed a request to back a letter of support for Adams Industries application to the Federal Railroad Association Railroad Rehabilitation and Improvement Financing program.

In her presentation to the commissioners, Kim Matthews, Business Development Manager at Adams Industries, said the application is an opportunity for a low-interest loan that would be used to build out the company's on-site rail an additional 10 miles, which would increase Adams Industries' capacity to transload rail cars and intermodal containers.

"Adams Industries will also update the aging infrastructure throughout our 900-acre facility, expand our transloading capabilities, build a new transload maintenance shop, and allow the purchase of needed rail related equipment. Adams Industries anticipates completing this work

Playground Celebrated

Forrest Hershberger
publisher@suntelegraph.com

A big part of a public park is having somewhere for children to play, to be themselves. They want to play, imagine, have fun.

Almost two years ago, two members of the Sidney community saw a downfall in the park and started asking why and why not. Why are we not including all children, and why are we not doing something about it. The children, people in general, include those who have mobility issues.

In December 2020, Madison "Madi" Wilkinson and Ally Benzel saw the need and followed "Why" not" with "if not us, then who." They approached the Sidney City Council with the concept of redoing the playground at Legion Park. Their passion was to design a playground where a person in a wheelchair is a welcomed as a person who isn't.

At that time, the Sidney Park Project was supported by a group of about 10 people.

Ally Benzel told the Sidney City Council in a Zoom conference the goal was to create a destination park.

Wilkinson and Benzel told the city council the project would not be funded by tax funds. About a year and a half later, the park became reality and their promise was kept. In the grand opening of the new park, the park was overwhelmed with children of various ages and abilities running through the new play equipment with the excitement of adults at a new coffee house. Wilkinson and Benzel were equally as excited looking at the success of the project.

"It's crazy its here," Wilkinson said.

She said the project actually started in 2019.

"When we started, Ally said it would take two to three years," Wilkinson said.

Prior to the ribbon cutting and grand opening, a special night was held in recognition of the project supporters.

The process from concept to completion was a learning experience, Benzel and Wilkinson said.

They learned a lot about the community and how it will support a project, and they learned about writing grants and organizing people. In February of this year, the Sidney Park Project board announced they were nearing their fundraising goal.

"There's so much talent in this community," Wilkinson said.

"Thank you for believing in a dream," Benzel said.

The project was funded with fundraising events, support from private organizations and residents and commercial. No tax dollars were used in support of the playground's construction.

Wilkinson and Benzel, and the Sidney Park Project board, worked with Outdoor Recreation in designing the updated playground.

The Board announced March 30 that the fundraising goal had been met, reaching the end with a "30K in 30 Days" campaign. The campaign was matched by an anonymous donor which allowed for a cement parking space at the playground.

'Night Of Hope' Celebrates 20 Years of Service to Cheyenne County Cancer Patients

For the past two decades there has been a constant in our small mid-west community - Night of Hope Walk For Cancer is that pillar.

The organization has been a pillar in the cancer community providing much needed financial relief for the individuals and families affected by every varying levels and types of cancer for 20 years!

Beyond their financial support, the Night of Hope Board and its committees bring compassion and empathy to those who find themselves fighting the cancer battle.

"No one fights alone" is a common phrase heard in cancer communities and

Village of Gurley Board of Trustees Presents Check for Purchase of AED Device

The Village of Gurley Board of Trustees recently presented a check for $3,185.60 to the Gurley Fire Department and Rescue Unit for the purchase of an Automated External Defibrillator (AED) device.

The AED is a medical device used to help those experiencing sudden cardiac arrest. It can analyze the heart's rhythm and, if necessary, deliver an electrical shock, or defibrillation, to help the heart re-establish an effective rhythm.

The project has been in the works since 2021 and suffered significant delays in receiving the AED due to supply chain issues.

The AED device was purchased with funds received from ACE, the Public Alliance for Community Energy. ACE is a community-owned natural gas supplier in the Nebraska Choice Gas program. The Village of Gurley is a member community of ACE.

ACE returns funds to its 75 member communities through its revenue return program, including the Village of Gurley. Earlier this year, the Village received $1,475 from ACE as its share of a $200,000

OBITUARIES

Donna M. McQueen

Donna M. McQueen, age 98, of Sidney, NE passed away in Sidney on Friday, July 29, 2022. A graveside service will be held at a later date.

You may view Donna's Book of Memories, leave condolences, photos and stories at www.gehrigstittchapel.com.

Gehrig-Stitt Chapel & Cremation Service, LLC is in charge of Donna's care and funeral arrangements.

Donna Marie was born on March 2, 1924 in Bridgeport, NE, to Roy and Rose Lee (Nunn) Bartholomew. Donna and her parents moved to Washington state in pursuit of jobs. Donna married Clarence Shelley in Seattle, WA and to this Union 5 children were born: Larry Dean Shelley, Lynda Kay (Shelley) Sadis, Lanny Owen Shelley, Gary Wayne Shelley and AnnaLee (Shelley) Gruber. The family moved around to many places in Washington, Illinois and South Carolina.

Donna met and soon thereafter married Floyd Nelson McQueen in Seattle, Wa, where they resided until retirement. They then moved north of Spokane and built their home together on the Ponderay River. After Nels passed away she remained living in their home on the river. In 2009 she moved to Sidney where her son, Larry and family live. She enjoyed spending her time with her grandson, Dustin Shelley and Granddaughter, Brittney Moore and families. After she moved to Sidney her grandchildren in Washington missed their Grandmother greatly. Grandchildren David Sadis, Shaya (Shy) Sadis and Marie Briggman spent a great deal of time with their grandparents at their home on the river and they were a big influence in their grandchildren's lives. Prior to passing at the age of 98, Donna was baptized in Christ by Pastor Chad Rademacher.

Survivors include Donna's daughters, Lynda Kay Sadis of Mill Creek, WA, AnnaLee (Chad) Gruber of Cosmopolis, WA, her son, Lanny Owen Shelley of Whidbey Island, WA, daughter in law, Kay Shelley, 16 Grandchildren and 16 Great Grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her parents; a step mother; her husband Nels; sons, Larry and Gary and Grandson Jordan.

The Love Life is not Pollyanna or wimpy. "For God has not given us a spirit of fear, but of power, love and a sound mind," 2 Timothy 1:7 Holy Spirit is power. God IS love. Jesus, the Master of self. Without Him we can do nothing, but with Holy Spirit guidance, Father's love and Jesus' example of self-mastery we are more than conquerors by the Anointing of the Anointed One (Messiah/Christ).

Loving as Jesus loved takes authority over one's spirit, self and circumstances of the day. Mark 4:17-19 reports 5 weapons satan uses, through lies and deception, to hold us hostage: Affliction, (harassment, offense) Persecution, Cares of this world, lusts of other things that enter in to choke the Word and deceitfulness of riches." STILL, there are 7,000 Scripture promises written for our victory!

"No temptation has overtaken you except such as is common to man, and God is faithful Who will not allow you to be tempted beyond what you are able, but with the temptation, He will also make the way of escape that you may be able to bear it." 1 Corinthians 10:13 Holy Spirit is the escape artist! Against the devil's 5 temptations, He is, in us, faith, patience, self-control, kindness, gentleness, mercy (goodness) which is peace (Shalom) bringing joy, which IS love! Galatians 5:22,23

Speak life to yourself. "I am a blessed sower! My covenant with God is a sure thing!" "My faith overcomes every adversity." "I am born of power, love and a sound mind." "My mind is stayed on Jesus. Peace (wholeness) is mine." Isaiah 26:3. Faith filled words today, will fend off trying circumstances tomorrow.

A minister friend was accosted by a thief who cut the shoulder strap to his rather expensive camera and made off with it. Determined to be Christ-like, he and his wife forgave the thief, praying that Jesus would bring him to salvation. Then, they found a store selling cameras. They said, "If we can replace the camera, that's good, but if we can find that zoom lens we've been praying for, that will be better." A powerful zoom lens is usually priced well above cost of a camera.

The shop owner had a replacement for the stolen camera, but was certain that he did not have the zoom lens. However, as the pastor and his wife browsed around the store, the wife saw a dilapidated box on a top shelf. On investigation it turned out to contain the exact zoom lens they desired. In the excitement and awe of the moment, the shop keeper just gave them the zoom lens!

Jesus' Blood on the cross grants us, as believers, authority in the world and over the underworld. "I am come that you might have life and have it more abundantly." John 10:10. "For whatever is born of God overcomes the world. And this is the victory that overcomes the world, even our faith [that abundant life is guaranteed by Jesus]." 1 John 5:4.

Next Week Love Potion #9

Improving Air Travel

If you or a loved one has traveled recently, you've likely experienced flight delays or cancellations.

A combination of factors has disrupted our air travel system. According to the latest federal data, an astounding 88,161 flights were canceled from January to May this year. But it's not just the inconvenience of cancellations or delays that are concerning. One factor contributing to the travel difficulties is the lack of available pilots, which has forced many airlines to reduce the volume of flights they can offer.

The reduction in flights hurts Nebraska airports that rely on the Essential Air Service, a national program designed to help rural communities stay connected. Alliance, Chadron, Grand Island, Kearney, McCook, North Platte, and Scottsbluff all have local airports that utilize this important program.

That's why this week I joined five of my colleagues in introducing the Let Experienced Pilots Fly Act. The legislation would raise the mandatory commercial pilot retirement age from 65 to 67, while still ensuring all pilots are held to the same rigorous safety and medical standards. It is estimated that roughly 5,000 fully qualified pilots will be forced to retire within the next two years despite their desire and ability to continue flying.

Deb Fischer
U.S. Senator

Passing this bill would be an important step towards lowering the number of service reductions and flight cancellations.

Our airports play an important role in the national infrastructure network. In addition to providing communities with better access to transportation, they enable Nebraskans to bring the state's world-class products to markets.

This year, we secured a series of airport infrastructure grants for Nebraska's airports, including: $1.75 million for Lincoln Airport, $1.0 million for Grand Island Central Regional Airport, $1.0 million for Kearney Regional Airport, $1.0 million for North Platte Regional Airport, $7.27 million for Omaha Eppley Airfield, $1.0 million for Western Nebraska Regional Airport. These funds are used for everything from facility upgrades and critical maintenance projects to flood mitigation.

I also recently announced two grants for Nebraska airports. Omaha Eppley Airport will receive an additional $20 million toward a terminal access road project and the Lincoln Airport will receive $850,000 for their terminal modernization initiative.

Taken together, these infrastructure projects will directly help to enhance Nebraskans' travel experiences and improve our state's connection to the rest of the country. All of the grants aiding these projects were made possible by the bipartisan infrastructure law, which I supported and which was signed into law in November of 2021.

Some airports have unique qualities that allow them to serve more than just commercial air travel. The Lincoln Airport's long runway, for example, was designed and built to support key Department of Defense missions. Today, the Nebraska National Guard's 155th Air Refueling Wing and the U.S. Air Force's 55th Wing continue to operate from the Lincoln Airport and rely on its long runway for missions vital to national security.

The Lincoln runway will need renovations over the next few years to maintain service. I have worked closely with senior leadership at the Department of Defense, STRATCOM, and other stakeholders to develop a plan to assist with these renovations. I am pleased that we were recently able to secure a commitment from the National Guard Bureau to cover a portion of the cost of this vital project. The Federal Aviation Administration will provide the majority of financial assistance for the renovations.

Next to national defense, there is no greater priority for the federal government than maintaining and modernizing the nation's infrastructure. I will continue to advocate on behalf of Nebraska communities and the infrastructure we rely on every single day.

Small Town Values

There's kind of a uniqueness in small towns that is too often overlooked.

It isn't the cafe that everyone flocks to because the cook/owner is also the founder from 50 years ago. It isn't that kids can generally walk the neighborhoods without fear, or that they can leave skateboards and bicycles in the yard without them being taken.

It is the paradox. There are organizations that are vital to making a town home that are constantly running into roadblocks. The roadblocks are not physical or political, They are often the results of a work ethic butting against a program that exists by volunteers. It's not a foolproof observation, but it does happen.

The guy who could man the grill for the community good-doers organization also has a full time construction job and designs homes at night, The woman who makes cakes like a professional is also a nurse with a private pay contract or two... because she likes taking care of people.

There are exceptions. When I was in college I recall guy running for student council president. The guy who spoke for him referenced a quote: "If you want to get something done, find someone who is already busy. That person has to have developed time management skills."

The same applies when seeking volunteers, sometimes to the extreme.

Find someone who wants to support that program, encourage and support them, but set them loose. Also support them so they don't get overwhelmed.

There is an "equation" frequently used when talking about volunteering, "the 80-20 Rule," 80 percent of the work gets done by 20 percent of the membership. It is a sober reminder that volunteerism is what makes the magic of small town community challenging. Attitudes and pride get in the way as much as work schedules, quickly leading to the 20 percent factor. Kept to its possible end, volunteers burn out and organizations fall to the history books. With it goes the character of a community, the improvements and community events that could have happened.

The question then, is what does a community do about it. The work ethic organizations seek in volunteers, hiring managers also need. One point that was offered in a recent discussion is if companies could support, even encourage, employees to take part in volunteer projects. It could work... if the companies and residents are committed.

It will take both the programs and agencies, and the people to meet.

The events we have in Sidney and Cheyenne County that make our part of the Panhandle special, survive on volunteer labor. Pick your passions and commit to success.

When can you choose retirement?

If you're like most people, your work has been a central part of your life. So, wouldn't it be nice to have the flexibility to decide when you no longer want to work?

Many people of retirement age have achieved this type of control. In fact, two-thirds of workers ages 65 and older say they work primarily because they want to, not because they have to, according to a 2021 study by Edward Jones and Age Wave. But that means that one-third of workers in this age group feel financially compelled to work. This doesn't necessarily mean they dislike the work they do — but it's probably fair to say they would have liked the option of not working. How can you give yourself this choice?

You can start by asking yourself these questions:

- When do I want to retire? You'll want to identify the age at which you wish to retire. You may change your mind later and move this date up or back, but it's a good idea to have a target in mind.

- What sort of retirement lifestyle do I want? When you retire, do you anticipate staying close to home and pursuing your hobbies, or do you hope to travel the world? Would you like to spend your time volunteering? Open your own business or do some consulting? Clearly, some of these choices will require more resources than others, so you'll want to follow a financial strategy that aligns with the retirement lifestyle you intend to pursue.

- Am I saving and investing enough? As you chart your course toward your retirement journey, you'll want to assess the sources of income you'll have available. If you think you may be falling short of achieving your retirement goals, you may need to consider saving more.

- When should I start taking Social Security? You can begin collecting Social Security benefits as early as 62, but your monthly payments will be much bigger if you wait until your "full" retirement age, which will likely be between 66 and 67. Your decision about when to take Social Security will depend on several factors, including your other sources of income and your family history of longevity.

Of course, as you're probably aware, the Social Security system is facing significant financial stress, so it's possible that we may see changes to Social Security, based on actions Congress could take. In any case, you might want to be fairly conservative in estimating how much Social Security can contribute to your retirement income.

By addressing the above questions, you can get a clearer sense of when you might reach the point at which work is optional. But you'll also need to consider other factors, too, such as how much you enjoy working or when your spouse or partner is planning to retire. In any case, the sooner you start planning for this next phase of your life, the better position you'll be in when it's time to make the transition.

Sending and Going

Over the last several months, I have had the blessing to disciple and train a young man that is preparing to be on the mission field in many countries, helping to combat human trafficking and work in family ministry.

It has been such a refreshing blessing to see his heart for the Lord and for others to know Christ. It has reminded me over and over again about my own family's journey, and as North American Mission Board Missionaries, what our call really is.

It isn't to lead a church or manage meetings, but to live a life on mission proclaiming Christ crucified in all of the walks of our life. Many times we can get caught up in the machine of ministry and programs.

Leading and managing people and ministries in our own sphere and platforms that we often can forget or neglect to be the church and obedient to the Great Commission. In fact, we sometimes treat this final directive of Christ Himself to the Apostles, (and ultimately to the Church) as more of a suggestion. Brothers and sisters, it ought to be so.

Some of Christ's last recorded words in Matthew before His ascension, speak to how we should live our lives on mission.

Matthew 28:18-20
18. And Jesus came and said to them, "All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. 19. Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, 20. teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you. And behold, I am with you always, to the end of the age."

Did you catch that? Let's break it down. Jesus, The Incarnate Word of God Himself, the Lamb that takes away the sin of the world, He who was crucified and died and rose again, makes an authoritative declaration of His power and charges His people to do His work. He doesn't tell them to come and sit, but to GO and make disciples of all nations.

I think our mentality sometimes, (especially in ministry or Churchianity) is to get people to come and stay, by any means necessary, rather than this directive of Go!

And how are they to Go if we are not willing to send them? Here is a novel concept, what if we were more interested in how many we send rather than how many we seat? What if we are far more passionate about equipping the saints and sending them out into a lost and dying world to proclaim the Gospel of Christ to every man, woman child, than what our next program will be?

In this great direct order from King Jesus we are not only told to go, but to make disciples that make disciples that make disciples and teach them the Ways of the Lord.

It is interesting to me (a church planter), that the directive is not start a church, build a building, ministry, etc., but to make Disciples. Christian/ Churches, how are we doing on that? Are we honoring our King Jesus with all He has told us to do?

At the end of the Great Commission, there lies a promise. A promise that the Lord doesn't and will not leave us, a promise that though it may seem like we are doing the work, or the work isn't going how we think it should, we are promised that it is Christ that is at His work for His glory and that He is with us always, in the good and bad, as we serve Him.

Now Christian, Go serve your King!

U.S. Congressman Flood Discusses Beef Industry Priorities during Cuming County Roundtable

WASHINGTON, D.C. - On Wednesday, U.S. Congressman Mike Flood visited Albers Feedlot in Wisner.

Located in Cuming County, Albers Feedlot has a 100 year history that spans five generations.

"It was an honor to visit with Albers Feedlot and Nebraska Cattlemen in Wisner to get more perspective on the current market and how inflation is hurting the cattle industry. Together, we can beat the Biden Administration's disastrous economic policy and regulatory overreach," said Congressman Flood.

"Thank you to Congressman Flood for listening to our priorities. We're a fifth generation family business that has been at the heart of the beef industry in Wisner for a century. It is important that our representation in Washington, D.C. strive to understand the citizens they represent. We are excited about working with Congressman Flood on priorities that will grow our rural communities and small businesses in Cuming County and beyond," said Todd Schroeder, Albers Feedlot

During the visit, Albers Feedlot leadership and Nebraska Cattlemen members briefed Congressman Flood on the effects of the Biden Administration's policies on the cattle industry, including the impact of inflation on their businesses and communities. Additionally, the Congressman received a briefing on the issues related to cattle markets, price discovery, and other industry priorities.

National FFA Alumni & Supporters Awards Grants to Assist Chapters

INDIANAPOLIS National FFA Organization) – National FFA Alumni and Supporters recently announced 15 grants awarded to chapters across the country.

Give Back to Your Roots Grants, supported by Nutrien Ag Solutions, were awarded to the Central FFA Alumni and Supporters Chapter in Independence, Ore.; the Elgin FFA Alumni and Supporters Chapter in Elgin, Ore.; Macon County FFA Alumni and Supporters Chapter in Lafayette, Tenn.; MTSU Collegiate FFA Alumni and Supporters Chapter in Murfreesboro, Tenn.; Richfield Springs FFA Alumni and Supporters Chapter in Hartwick, N.Y.; West Greene FFA Alumni and Supporters in Mosheim, Tenn.; Garner FFA Alumni and Supporters in Weatherford, Texas; and Westminster High School FFA Alumni and

Donate Garden Produce

By Tammie Ostdiek,
Extension Educator – Food, Nutrition and Health

Delicious vegetables and fruits are abundant in August. And gardeners know that a lot of this produce is ready for harvest at the same time, making it difficult to use before it goes to waste.

To avoid throwing out produce, start with a plan to use what the family can eat fresh, possibly preserve some for the winter, and then consider sharing with others. Donating to a food pantry is a great way to share the abundance with people who need food and often appreciate the fresh, locally grown produce.

Check with food pantries in your area to see if they accept fresh produce (they need adequate storage). Find out which days and times are best for dropping off produce; many small local pantries have limited hours.

Donate fresh produce that is easy to store at room temperature for several days and can be eaten fresh or used in many different recipes. Pick vegetables at the peak of ripeness for the best flavor and texture. Common vegetables that are easily recognized will be preferred over unusual varieties or colors. Tomatoes, cucumbers, potatoes, carrots, green beans, peppers, melons, and of course the prolific zucchini are excellent on the food pantry shelf and are likely to disappear quickly.

Keep food safety in mind when handling fruits and vegetables. Practice good personal hygiene. Wipe excess dirt off vegetables grown in the ground. Use a food grade harvest container which can also be used to transport the food and protect it from damage. Keep fruits and vegetables whole; avoid cut produce, which needs refrigeration. A food safety guideline is to avoid donating anything not considered high-enough quality to serve to family.

Growing Together Nebraska is a community donation garden project connecting local Extension staff, active Master Gardeners, and local community organizations.

WNCC Men Looking for Double-figure Wins

After winning just eight matches a year ago, the outlook for the Western Nebraska Community College men's soccer team is extremely high with several high-impact players that hit the practice field for the first time on Tuesday.

Paul Cerros, a key member of the team a year ago, is excited to see what this team brings to the field.

"I am looking forward to be playing with this team as I am excited for the season," Cerros, of Chihuahua, Mexico, said. "We have high expectations for each other and want to win and enjoy the game."

The first couple days of practices have been intense and Cerros said they are focusing on meshing together and staying fit.

"The first couple of practices have been really interesting," Cerros said. "We got a lot of new people from different places so it has been fun to experience different styles of playing."

WNCC returns 12 players from last year's team and they have 11 newcomers to the roster. Cerros, who graduated from Rifle High School in Colorado, said the talent on this team is high.

"I think the talent level of this team is really high," he said. "We all have the talent needed to succeed together. I think our talent also rises as a team."

Leading the returners is Region IX freshman of the year Rodrigo Cercal. Cercal, who hails from Brazil, scored 15 goals a year ago including back-to-back hat tricks.

Also returning include four more from Brazil including Matheus Rodriguez, Paulo Henrique, Renan Souza, and Gabriel Santos.

Other returners are Jacob Collins from Moira, Northern Ireland, Tom Pelzer, of Bad Sackingen, Germany; and Luis Molina from Rifle, Colorado, Dante Rafaela from Thornton, Colorado, and Lincoln Frank and Oziel Carmarge from Scottsbluff.

Alex Alarcon, who red-shirted a year ago, also returns. Alarcon graduated from Aurora Central High in Louisville, Colorado.

Joining the team this year are two Scottsbluff graduates in Jason Escamilla and Abraham Hafner.

Other new players include Samuel Acosta and Sebastian Arenas from Colombia; and Bernardo Bender, Herman Burdles, Pablo Dominguez, Eduardo Oliveira, Pedro Roche, and Adolpho Rojas.

"I think everyone has stood out in practice in my eyes because of the different styles of plays," Cerros said. "But I think the goalkeepers have impressed us all with their agility and footwork."

The Cougar soccer teams opened the pre-season schedule with an alumni game on Saturday, Aug. 6. That alumni scrimmage showed a lot of positives for the team as they defeated a talented alumni team 5-2. Cercal had two goals in the win over the alumni while the other three goals came from Dominguez, Arenas, and Rodriguez.

After the alumni game, the Cougars will have two more scrimmages when they travel to Metro State on Aug. 13 and then play South Dakota School of Mines on Aug. 30.

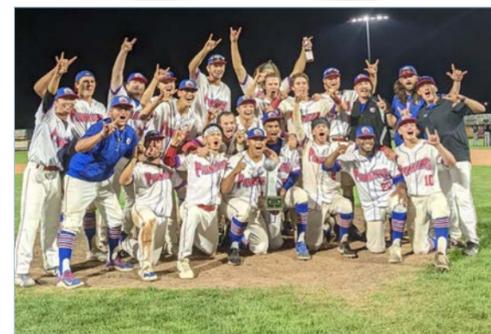

The Cougars open the season for real on Aug. 26 when they face Northeastern Junior College in Sterling, Colorado.

"I think the goals and keys for this season to be successful are to stay mentally focused and strong," Cerros said. "We are also focusing on staying fit and getting our fundamentals to a higher level."

The one thing that has affected the team somewhat is practicing in the heat of near record highs of 100 degrees or higher. Cerros said they are handling those high temperatures.

"The heat has been very high but I think the team has been handling that extremely well," he said. "Our coaches also keep us reminded to stay hydrated and stretched."

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

The Western Nebraska Pioneers won the inaugural Independence League Championship by defeating Spearfish 3-2 in the Independence League Championship Series. After taking an early lead, Spearfish came back to tie the game at 2-2 in the ninth inning, but Western Nebraska held on and Tyler Mead drew a walk with the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth inning to give the Pioneer's the 3-2 win and the championship. Starting pitcher Griffin Allen went 8 innings giving up no runs and striking out 10. This is the second league championship for the Pioneers in their five years of competition.

WNCC Volleyball has Unfinished Business as Cougars Open Practices

It is unfinished business for the Western Nebraska Community College volleyball team as they opened fall practices on Tuesday for the coming year.

Last year the Cougars finished just shy of a trip to the NJCAA national tournament, finishing fourth at the regional tournament and this year, there is renewed optimism as the Cougars feature plenty of returning talent and talented incoming freshmen.

"That is what our sophomores have been saying when we stepped on the court today that it is unfinished business," Jenna Curtis, an outside hitter from Ogallala, said. "We are trying to make it to nationals this year."

WNCC head coach Binny Canales is excited as he welcomed 18 players to the team.

"We are getting better every practice. Everyone is adjusting to each other and learning faces and it seems very competitive," Canales said. "We have a lot of competition for different positions and we are three deep in everything at least. We have really good strong and smart hitters. I feel it will be a good year."

The volleyball team had a single practice on Tuesday and a couple practices on Wednesday and Curtis is excited to be back on the court for her sophomore year.

"It feels really good and we have a lot of new players this year so getting connected with them is a whole new level," Curtis said. "We have a few weeks of practice, but we are ready to go."

This year things look a little different as the Cougars feature plenty of returning starters as well as a freshman class that has a lot of potential.

"I think this season is way different from last year," Curtis said. "We have tons of different athletes and people from all over the country and all over the world. We have all-around outside hitters and all-around middle hitters. Everyone is good and there will be a lot of competing on the court this year."

Curtis and Canales' optimism for a solid season stems from a team this year that looks to be three deep at the positions.

WNCC returns nine players from last year's team and they also have one returner from two years ago that is coming back for a third year, using her COVID year. That player is Alex Hernandez, a 5-8 middle hitter from El Paso, Texas.

The other eight returners include two Nebraska Panhandle players in Curtis, the 5-10 outside hitter from Ogallala, and Jayla Brehmer, a 5-10 outside hitter from Rushville.

Also returning is NJCAA All-American Erica Fava, a 5-10 outside hitter from Placenza, Italy, along with Ale Meoni, a 5-11 rightside hitter from Padova, Italy by way of Houston Texas.

WNCC Women Much Improved This Year

The Western Nebraska Community College women's soccer team has high goals this season and the biggest is to notch as many wins as possible.

A year ago, the Cougars women won just twice on the pitch and this season sophomore Vanessa Vasquez of Aurora, Colorado, said this team has already set high goals.

"I think our biggest goal this season is to get some wins," Vasquez said. "We want to be regional champions and even make it to nationals. Obviously, we have really big goals, and I think that in order to reach them we need to work as a team and trust each other as well as committing ourselves to the game. We need to use everything that we have to our advantage, and right now it's our new coaching staff. We have two new coaches that have a lot of experience and skill and I think that they will be a key part of our team being successful this season, as long as we all listen and learn from them."

Joining head coach Todd Rasnic on the staff are former players Ivan Sakou and Silvio Xavier. Both of these former Cougars went on to have successful four-year careers and have instilled new life into the soccer program at WNCC.

"The first couple of practices have been pretty great," Andrea Jimenez of Denver, Colorado, said. "Getting to know the team every season is always a wonderful experience. The coaches have pushed us above our limits both mentally and physically to strive for this season and the Region 9 tournament."

Last year the Cougars didn't score a lot of goals. That will not be the case this season as Sakou and Xavier have helped the team in that capacity.

"I think we have a lot of talent and I feel like all of your new girls are filling in the spots that we were missing," Vasquez said. "I think that they have the right mentality and talent to help us get to where we want to be."

That goal-scoring ability was evident at the alumni game on Saturday where the Cougars scored seven goals in earning the 7-0 win over their alumni, including former players from Scottsbluff and Colorado.

Jimenez had the big day on the pitch as the sophomore scored a haul, a soccer term for scoring four goals in a match. Jimenez scored the first two goals in the game and then had her third just a couple minutes into the second half. Jimenez added her fourth goal with 16:20 left in the match to make it 5-0.

Vasquez had two goals in the contest, the last two goals of the match. The other goal came from freshman Aileen Perez from Thornton, Colorado.

With what they did on the pitch on Saturday, it shows just how much talent is among the returners and the newcomers and that is what is making things bright for the women's soccer team this season and trying to win their third Region IX soccer title in school history. The last time the team won regionals was 2008.

"I think that everyone is doing amazing and you can definitely see that all of our freshman really want to play and have the talent to do so," Vasquez said. "I also think that the sophomores are really helping the new girls get into everything and I think that as a whole, my team had really stood out. I don't think particularly anyone in specific stands out, but I think that freshman want to earn their spots and the sophomores and going to make them work for it as well so I think that for now, everyone is working hard."

The Cougar women return eight players that saw action on the pitch a year ago. The eight returners, besides Jimenez and Vasquez, include Scottsbluff's Izzy and Cali Wright, Hazel Cardenas of Aurora, Colorado, Yoseline Hernandez and Yasmin Rojas of Commerce City, Colorado, and Vicky Granda of Quito, Ecuador.

Another player that was at WNCC the past two seasons but had to sit out because of injuries is Hailey Kwiatkowski of Colorado Springs, Colorado, but Kwiatkowski is excited that she gets to suit up this year and play.

These nine players that have already have the Cougar culture will be joined by a freshman class that has plenty of talent. Leading the list is Tania Razo of Aurora, Colorado. Razo scored 56 goals for her DSSST Green Valley Ranch High School teams a year ago and has score 80 goals in two seasons.

Other players to watch include Natalya Baird-Watson of Mullumbimby, New South Wales; Jackie Castro of Aurora, Colorado; Aileen Perez of Thornton, Colorado; Lesley Vasquez of Denver, Colorado, and Summer Parnell of Hastings.

Other newcomers include Deboora Pires Lopes, Sara Rebecca, and Taila Viera.

Jimenez said the freshmen have really stepped up.

"I can say that our freshmen this year have stood out like no other," she said. "For those who are internationals, they face that culture shock and yet adapt like no other because of the one sport that unites us. For the rest of the freshmen they are faced with a different style of playing and I can see it within them the change they want to become both in and out of the field."

Jimenez added this team has all the makings of doing something great. "This year's team has a lot of potential without a doubt," Jimenez said. "Each and every player has a special skill that can provide a great input to the team. A lot of the girls are already striving for success as it is and I can wait for them to grow as individual and as players."

The goals for the women's team are easy. First it is to win as many games as possible and the second is they want to win the regionals and go to nationals in Evans, Georgia.

Nothing More Nebraskan Than the State Fair

We're less than a month away from our state's biggest annual celebration — the Nebraska State Fair.

From August 26th through September 5th, Nebraskans from across the state will gather to share all that Nebraska agriculture has to offer. It will be the 153rd time we gather for this time-honored tradition. Last year, the State Fair attracted more than a quarter-million attendees to Grand Island, including visitors from 10 countries and 43 states. This year, we'll be ready to welcome even more guests looking to get a taste of the Good Life.

At its core, the State Fair is a fantastic celebration of Nebraska's number one industry. Agriculture is the heart and soul of what we do here in our state. It accounts for roughly 20 percent of our economy and is a powerhouse for job creation — one in four Nebraska jobs are connected to agriculture. The State Fair gives us an opportunity to appreciate the full scope of agriculture in Nebraska and how it continues to shape our rich heritage.

Fairgoers are given an experiential way to learn about agriculture through the State Fair's interactive Raising Nebraska exhibit. Attendees can drive a combine simulator, get their hands dirty in the various soils that nourish Nebraska's crops, and learn how farmers use technology to irrigate fields. Additionally, a milking parlor at the State Fair gives attendees a firsthand look at dairy farming. The fair also allows our next generation of Nebraska ag leaders to exhibit livestock through FFA and 4-H. They will show their skills caring for animals, helping fair attendees to better understand the importance of livestock agriculture to Nebraska. But as agriculture advances, so does the fair. This year, students will also participate in a robotics competition to demonstrate the many uses of technology in modern agriculture.

Pete Ricketts

Beyond agriculture, the State Fair also showcases Nebraskans' creativity. Cooks will enter homemade pies, jams, and relishes into culinary contests. Backyard farmers will compete to see how their flowers and vegetables stack up against the competition. And sculptors, quilters, and woodworkers will display their handiwork. These friendly competitions are an opportunity for Nebraskans to take home the coveted blue ribbon.

The State Fair is also Nebraska's premier family-friendly festival. It boasts the state's biggest carnival, featuring rides and games for all ages. And, there's an abundance of entertainment options throughout the fair's 11 days. Attendees can watch everything from BMX stunt riding to ultimate bullfighting to pig racing. On August 27th, fans can even cheer on runners competing in the Nebraska State Marathon, a qualifying race for the Boston Marathon.

Each year, the State Fair brings world-class musicians to Nebraska. Country music artists Lady A (formerly known as Lady Antebellum) will perform on September 3rd. Lady A is a three-time winner of the "Vocal Group of the Year" from both the Academy of Country Music and the Country Music Association. Mexican band Los Tucanes De Tijuana, winners of a Latin Grammy, will take the stage August 31st. A full list of this year's concerts is available here.

Of course, it wouldn't be the Nebraska State Fair without plenty of good food! This year, more than 60 food stands will offer all sorts of flavorful eats. My personal favorite is the Nebraska Cattlemen's Beef Pit, which serves mouth-watering Prime Rib dinners and slow-roasted beef. The UNL Dairy Store will once again serve up delicious ice cream. And there will be no shortage of funnel cakes, nachos, and fried foods on a stick.

True to the Nebraska Way, our State Fair always pays tribute to our veterans. On August 30th, there are several activities planned to honor our Iraq and Afghanistan war veterans. At 3:00 PM, there will be a veteran's program in the Heartland Event Center. The day's parade will also salute veterans for their service to our country.

Additionally, Patriotic Productions will display their Nebraska Remembering Our Fallen exhibit throughout the entire fair in the Nebraska Building. It commemorates the brave Nebraskans we've lost in military service since 2001.

As we look forward to the 2022 State Fair, we're also investing in its future growth. This spring, the State allocated $20 million of federal ARPA funds to improve infrastructure at the State Fair's home in Fonner Park. The upgrades will ensure our State Fair has first-class facilities for Nebraskans to enjoy for generations to come.

Nearly 1,000 volunteers serve a combined 12,000+ hours each year to make the State Fair a success. Thank you to the many Nebraskans who generously give time to ensure fairgoers have a safe, fun, and memorable experience. If you have interest in volunteering this year, please visit statefairvolunteer.org.

I hope you'll make plans to bring your family and friends to the 2022 Nebraska State Fair. You can check out all the fun that's in store at statefair.org. If you have any questions about the State's support of the fair, or any other topic, please contact me at pete.ricketts@nebraska.gov or 402-471-2244.

Straight Talk from Steve: Coach Kennedy

The role of religion in our public schools has taken center stage once again. In June the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that Joseph Kennedy, a football coach in Bremerton, Washington, had a constitutional right to pray with his players on the 50-yard line after high school football games.

Coach Kennedy had been fired from his coaching job for doing this very thing under the rationale that he was imposing his religious beliefs on the players, but our nation's highest court disagreed.

The U.S. Supreme Court made the right decision, so today I would like to tell you why they made the right decision. The job of a U.S. Supreme Court justice is to interpret the U.S. Constitution; it is not to make new laws or to make decisions based upon what they think might be the best policy for American society. Interpretation is governed by the original intentions of the author(s), so the high court did the right thing by honoring the original intentions of our Founding Fathers in regards to the First Amendment.

Back in 1995 the Clinton Administration had published a document entitled, "The Memorandum on Religious Expression in Public Schools." That document set the standard for the next 27 years and it said that "Teachers and school administrators should ensure that no student is in any way coerced to participate in religious activity." But, Coach Kennedy never made participation in prayer a compulsory part of his football program.

The Memorandum on Religious Expression in Public Schools was not written by any Supreme Court justices; instead, it reflects the opinion of William Jefferson Clinton, the 42nd president of the United States. While many Americans may agree with the former president's stance on the issue, his view does not reflect the original intention of the Founding Fathers when the First Amendment was written, debated, and passed in Congress.

Our Founding Fathers expected religion to be taught in our nation's schools. For example, Fischer Ames of Massachusetts, a man who beat out Samuel Adams to serve in the First United States Congress, provided the original wording for the First Amendment when it was debated in Congress on August 20, 1789. Exactly one month later, on September 20, 1789 Fisher Ames published an article on the subject of educating children in our public schools in Palladium magazine. In that article he said, "We are spending less time in the classroom on the Bible, which should be the principal text in our schools."

Steve Erdman
Neb. 47th District

So, Fischer Ames believed that school children should be taught the Bible. He never imagined that the First Amendment would someday be used to prevent teachers from teaching the Bible or praying with students in our public schools.

The First Amendment was written for the purpose of keeping the federal government from establishing a state religion, to prohibit government officials from interfering in the affairs of churches, and to protect each individual's right to worship God freely, but it was never intended to silence Christians in the public square, including public schools. To the contrary, when teachers, administrators and coaches are silenced in the public schools, such a policy effectively becomes an endorsement of no-religion, atheism, or secular humanism, all of which have been deemed religions by the high court.

The Nebraska State Constitution promotes the teaching of religion in the public schools. Article 1, Section 4 of the Nebraska State Constitution is devoted to the subject of religious freedom. That section ends with these words, "Religion, morality and knowledge... being essential to good government, it shall be the duty of the Legislature to pass suitable laws...and to encourage schools and the means of instruction." In other words, without faith, morality and knowledge there is no basis for law.

This idea came from our Founding Fathers. For example, John Adams, who became our nation's first vice president as well as our nation's second president, said that "Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people; it is wholly inadequate to the government of any other." So, an important part of our American education includes the teaching that our nation was specifically designed for a moral and religious people.

Health Alert Issued for Three Nebraska Lakes

Lincoln – The state has issued a health alert for Harmful Algal Blooms (HAB), also known as toxic blue-green algae, at Iron Horse Trail Lake (Wildlife Management Area) in Pawnee County.

Maskenthine Reservoir in Stanton County and Willow Creek Reservoir in Pierce County are still on health alert.

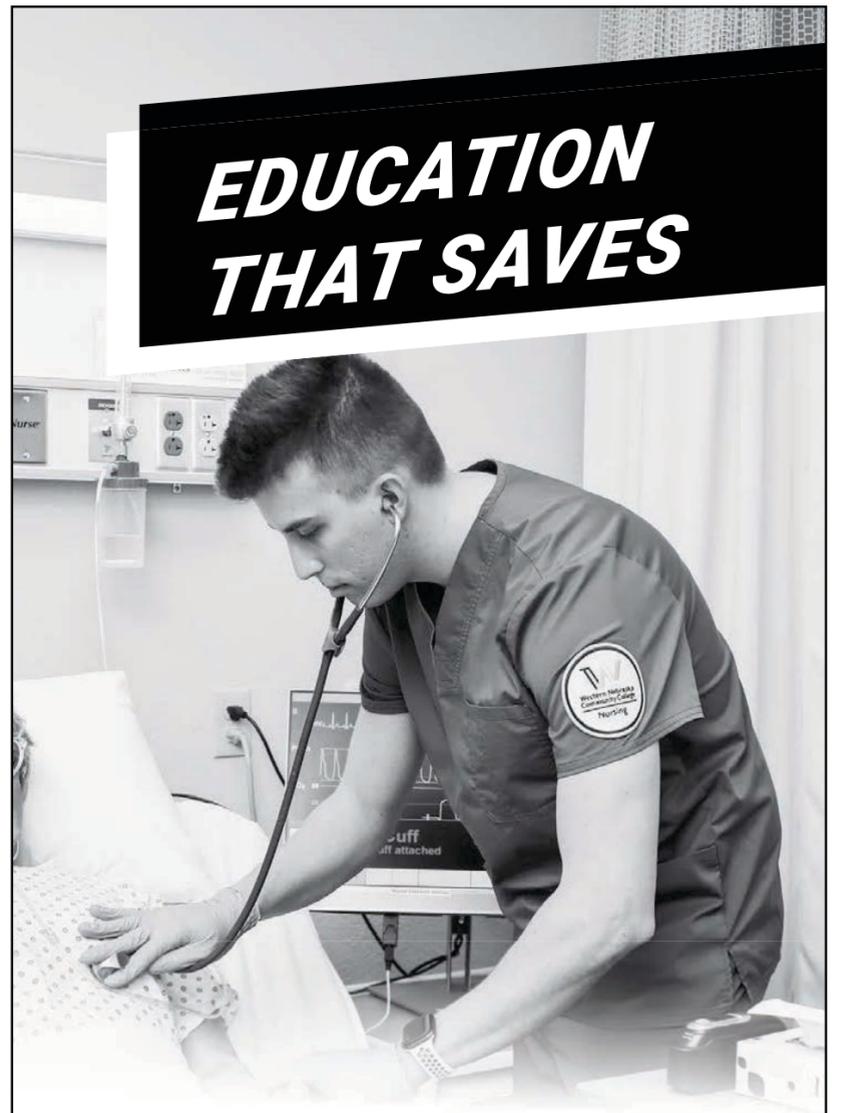

Samples taken earlier this week at the lakes on alert measure above the threshold of 8 parts per billion (ppb) of total microcystin, which is a toxin released by certain strains of blue-green algae.

When a health alert is issued, signs are posted to advise the public to use caution, and designated swimming beaches are closed during the alert. Recreational boating and fishing are permitted, but the public is advised to use caution and avoid exposure to the water, particularly avoiding any activity that could lead to swallowing the water. Do not let pets get in the water or drink from the lake. People can still use the public areas for camping, picnics and other outdoor activities.

Weekly sampling has been conducted at 53 public lakes since the first week of May. The lakes will continue to be monitored weekly through the end of September. Sampling results for HAB and bacteria will be updated every Friday and posted on NDEE's website, <http://dee.ne.gov/>. The state's monitoring is conducted at public lakes with swimming beaches and high public activity. HAB may also be present in other lakes in Nebraska that are not tested, so the public should use caution if they see signs of algal blooms.

For more information about what to look for, potential health effects from HAB and steps to avoid exposure, please refer to the following Fact Sheet. To view the weekly data for the lakes sampled, go to <https://deq-iis.ne.gov/zs/bw/>.

Wm. Campbell Killed and N.E. Gasman, Wm. Butler, M. Hinton and A. Way, Wounded

All About Nothing
Special to the Sidney Telegraph:
Ogallala, Aug. 1.--A deal of excitement was occasioned here this afternoon, the cause being a row at one of the hotels between some Texas cow boys. The result was the killing of Wm. Campbell, a well-known Texan, and boss herder for Bosler & Lawrence. He is well known in this vicinity, and was a good man. The row resulted from a few chaffing and bantering words between Campbell and May at the dinner table. They both drew pistols with the results stated. Mr. Gasman is our postmaster, and a much respected old gentleman. He was accidentally shot in his private parts. Hinton, Butler and May received slight wounds with the exception of Butler who was shot twice in the thighs. All will recover. The melee lasted but four or five minutes, and there was no fight except between May and Campbell.

THE GREAT PANHANDLE SURRENDERS

Columbus, July 23--It is just reported that the Pan-Handle managers have given in to the strikers and agree to pay them what they will demand.

PENNSYLVANIA SPARKS

Altoona, July 23 -- A train bearing soldiers reached here this morning, en route for Pittsburg, and were stopped by strikers. The engines were taken from the train. A company of militia stacked arms and refused to do anything. Another company tried to connect the engines, but was attacked and driven off by the strikers. The whole train is now lying here under complete control of the mob.

Railroad Gossip

We were misinformed last week in that stating that grade work had entirely ceased on the western end of the Nebraska division of the Union Pacific. The company has quit hauling gravel owing to the unusually heavy traffic on the road. One gang of sixty laborers has been discharged but the balance of the forces, consisting of three gangs at Archer, one gang at Hillsdale and one at Bigsprings, have sufficient work to keep them busy for a couple of months. The cut-off between Hillsdale and Archer will keep a large force at work until October. We understand that the gravel work has been suspended until next spring and also that considerable heavy grade work between Archer and Cheyenne will be commenced at that time.

A new stationary engine and lathe were installed in the Union Pacific roundhouse Wednesday.

W. R. Cahill, formerly a conductor on the Overland between Omaha and North Platte, has been appointed Union Pacific train-master at Omaha. N.J. O'Brien, late superintendent of the Southern road at Danville, N.C., has been appointed train-master at North Platte.

Circus Tent Blows Down on Crowd

Arthur Schubarth of the country about 25 miles northwest of Sidney was in town last Saturday. Mr. Schubarth is recovering the use of his leg which was badly shattered in a runaway accident last summer. He feels another case for thankfulness since last week when his little boy had a narrow escape from death. The six year-old son, Walter, was in the hay-mow and accidentally dropped the pitchfork to the lower floor. The three-year-old brother, Rudolph, was knocked down by the fork which penetrated between the ribs just above the heart. The fork remained stuck in the wound, at a slant. A movement on the part of the boy, or had the fork fallen down, the little heart would have been stilled forever. Walter had shouted at the little brother to lie perfectly still, while he rapidly scrambled down the ladder. It took all the force of Walter's little strength to pull the fork out of the wound. The father was absent. The mother with all haste summoned a doctor from Gurley who was on hand in 20 minutes. For two days the boy lay in a semi-stupor and then rallied and is making a rapid recovery.

Wheat Harvest in High Gear; Reports Forecast Big Crop

Rail Car Shortage is Feared by Grain Men

Cheyenne County's winter wheat harvest moved into high gear this week, headed toward what veteran observers say will be a five to six million bushel yield. The savage hail and wind storm which lashed this county on July 21 may have trimmed as much as one million bushels from the county's total yield, according to a survey just completed by the county agent's office. First estimates were around 200 thousand bushels but the extent of the storm and the tremendous damage it did have caused an upward revision of estimates. More conservative observers still insist, however, that not more than half a million bushels were lost.

As the 1947 harvest reached fever pitch, two unpleasant factors bobbed up to plague the farmers. Elevator men came forth with the first discouraging news when they disclosed that the railroad car situation is far from adequate to handle the flood of golden grain now moving to market. And the farmers themselves added to the pessimism by predicting there will be almost as much wheat piled on the ground as last year, when some of the grain was exposed for three months.

Meanwhile, reports of average yields in this county have run from seven bushels per acre, in areas which suffered hail damage, to a top of 55 bushels on one farm near Brownson. Raymond Anthony cut the 55 bushel wheat on a 19 acre tract he farms for Dr. George Thompson. Other wheat in that locality was good for forty bushels. Unconfirmed reports received Sunday evening said early cutting on the expansive Lieber farms between Huntsman and Gurley was producing an average of close to fifty bushels. A short distance to the east, hail cut down a number of fields which appeared just as good two weeks ago.

Rain Continues To Plague

Farmers, Custom Combiners

Wheat farmers are optimistic for a good afternoon of cutting today, the first sunny day they've seen this week. A local elevator operator stated the only good day of cutting this year was over two weeks ago, July 14.

Damp weather in the county has extended the harvest, which would normally last about 10 days, into three and one-half weeks. The afternoon showers have not only slowed cutting but has dropped test weights from a high of 63 down to a low of 57.

The Lodgepole area has about 70 to 80 per cent of the wheat out of the fields. Farmers with wheat left to cut are now suffering a weed problem and harvest crews are getting "itchy" to move on. One discouraged harvester, who has been waiting to get into the fields for the past five days, plans to return home rather than heading north.

In the Gurley area, 25 to 30 per cent of the wheat is cut and in the bins. Yields have ranged from 30 to 47 bushels per acre but samples now show high moisture content. Crews still remain with a few moving on to other commitments.

Farther north, Dalton waits with three-quarter of the wheat yet in the field. Some yields have been recorded at 40 to 50 bushels per acre. Moisture samples this morning were high, 14.5 to 15 pounds.

Potter has received hail with just about every rain; 60 per cent of the wheat still on the stalk remains in jeopardy. Yields range from 35 to 40 bushels an acre with test weights dropping.

Not much cutting action has been seen this past week in the Lorenzo area. About 60 per cent of the wheat has been cut. Test weights are averaging 58 pounds. In the local trade area, about 50 per cent of the wheat is cut. Test weights are lowering three to four points, now standing at a 58 pound average. Moisture has been high for the past week.

1997's Winter Wheat Quality Called Good

Elevator operators have been pleasantly surprised by yields of the 1997 winter wheat harvest.

With most of the crop into the elevators of the southern Panhandle and northeastern Colorado, crop watchers are finding high-quality wheat in the local yields.

"We had a really good harvest here in Scoular," Neil Holstein, manager at Scoular Grain in Sidney, said Thursday.

"We saw less off-grade wheat than we anticipated, he said.

Holstein said he was concerned that some farmers in the region were going to have trouble with higher amounts of rye grass and other undesirables in their harvest. With higher amounts of non-wheat products in their harvests, farmers see reductions in the prices paid for their crops. Farmers who may have seen those problems arising in their fields took preventative measures to ensure a better crop, he added.

The yields from this year's harvest hovered in the 30-to-35-bushel-per-acre category, according to area elevator managers. The highest reported yield came from the Chappell area. Bart Bondegard of Farmers Elevator said a 52-bushel-per-acre yield was reported there. Despite damage from hail around Deuel County, Bondegard said the overall harvest was pretty good.

While the yields from this year's harvest may not have been as large as in the past couple of years, the protein counts have been very good, according to Bob Kelly, general manager of Crossroads Co-Op in Sidney. He said the wheat harvest had brought protein yields between nine and 14.

Water Field Experiences Problem; No Effect Seen By Sidney Customers

Three of four wells at the Northwest Sidney Water Field stopped pumping water for about 12 hours beginning Monday evening, but water users saw no effect because of action from city crews. Sidney Water Superintendent Bill Taylor said some sort of an electrical problem caused the problem at the northwest field, but city officials made up the difference by pumping from the northeast field. Taylor said the city crews were able to restore three of the northwest field pumps by early Tuesday morning, but the fourth well head, which had been the only one working during the outage, also needed repairs.

Taylor said it was unknown why the other three pumps went off-line. It was identified as an electrical issue, but city crews had yet to identify the exact problem. Taylor said that when the crews responded to the well field, they found that while the fourth pump was working, bearings in the head were failing. Once the other wells were up and running, crews shut down that well for repairs.

Officials received alarms indicating trouble at about 7 p.m. Monday.

Community Meeting Discusses Sidney's Future

What would your home town look like if you weren't concerned about your checkbook, an investor who could absorb some of the risk? Would you be big and bold?

Would you have live music in the park seven months of the year, a sports complex that would draw attention from east Nebraska and three neighboring states, or would you be tempted to restrict your dreams to what you think can be accomplished?

On Aug. 2, a community meeting was held at the Sidney Elks Lodge to discuss what Sidney could look like if money is not considered.

Jana Jenson and Dena Beck, representing the Nebraska Community Foundation, spearheaded the Sidney meeting.

The meeting started with each person in attendance offering their name and a one-word positive description of the community. Descriptions varied from safe to resilient and good work ethic.

"Tonight is about dreaming big," said Jana Jenson. "It's all about what we want Sidney to look like in three, five years."

Jenson is the Affiliated Fund Development Coordinator for the Nebraska Community Foundation.

She said visionary sessions like Sidney's Aug. 2 meeting is one of the first steps in forming a community foundation.

"People want to give. If there's not a depository, what are they going to do?" Jenson asked.

She said it takes funds for make a dream reality.

"We have to have money to do great things in our community," she said.

Wendall Gaston, local representative of the Sidney Community Donor-Advised Fund, an affiliated fund of Nebraska Community Foundation, said this stage is two years in the making.

"I've been working on this for two years. What most people don't know is we have a lot of people who are very charitable," he said.

He said the foundation he represents has given away $3 million in the last two years.

"In the process, I've had 35 to 40 people come up and say 'we want to contribute to the fund.'" he said.

However, it is a private foundation; no more supporters can be accepted. That is where a proposed new giving option was discussed.

Gaston said that while that fund has done some impactful work, there is not a way to accept additional donations, including planned giving. He added that reating an Affiliated Fund (not a foundation) would allow for those donations as well as flexibility and with local decision-making.

Accident Temporarily Closes Highway 30 at Potter

Two people were flown to Regional West Hospital in Scottsbluff following a collision between a truck-trailer and a four-door sedan at about 1:28 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 4. The call came in as a "Suburban hit by a truck," according to Potter Fire Department Public Information Officer Bob Hilpert. The car stopped facing northwest on the north side of U.S. Highway 30 just east of the intersection with Potter's Chestnut Street. Air Life and Air Link sent choppers in response to the injuries. Both patients were flown to a Hospital in Scottsbluff. Eleven firefighters responded with five units. Jaws of Life were used to extricate the victims from the car. Assisting agencies include Regional West EMS, Cheyenne County Sheriff's Department, Nebraska State Patrol, Nebraska Department of Roads, Cheyenne County Highway Department and an off-duty medic from Kimball.

Featuring upscale, technology-rich office and meeting spaces, the 52,000-square-foot Regional Engagement Center will be built directly west of the Village Flats residence hall on UNK's University Village development. The center will bring new businesses and organizations to Kearney while complementing the university's academic activities.

UNK Breaks Ground on Regional Engagement Center – a Cornerstone Project for Campus, Community

By TYLER ELLYSON
UNK Communications

KEARNEY – This isn't your average office building.

The University of Nebraska at Kearney's Regional Engagement Center will transform campus and the community, bringing new opportunities to rural Nebraska and connecting people across the state.

"It's going to be the key gathering place for the university and for companies, businesses and visionaries in central and western Nebraska. Everything that we think is important will be able to happen here in the Regional Engagement Center," UNK Chancellor Doug Kristensen said Thursday morning during a groundbreaking ceremony for the $15.6 million project.

More than 125 people, including city, state and university officials, attended the event at UNK's University Village development, where the 52,000-square-foot facility will be built directly west of the Village Flats residence hall. It's expected to open in early 2024.

Standing in the middle of the former farmland, Kristensen called the Regional Engagement Center a "linchpin" for the 104-acre development that's started to take shape over the past four years.

"We really are putting an urban village in a rural community, which is so unique," he said. "That doesn't happen anywhere else in Nebraska, but it's happening here in Kearney."

A public-private partnership, the Regional Engagement Center features upscale, technology-rich office and meeting spaces that will bring new businesses and organizations to Kearney while complementing the university's academic activities.

"If you're looking for leading-edge office space or a place to begin or enhance your business in the state of Nebraska, look no further than the Regional Engagement Center," Kristensen said.

Chief Industries, Allo Communications and the Olsson engineering and design firm are already committed to leasing office space there, along with the UNK Alumni Association and University of Nebraska Foundation.

And that's just the beginning.

"As we go along, there are going to be a lot of other partners, and they're going to bring a lot of activity to not only the university but to the community of Kearney," Kristensen noted.

The center will strengthen Kearney's role as a regional hub by bringing communities together through both public and university events while allowing students to easily interact with future employers.

"This is a big deal to the university, and I think it's going to be a huge deal for the city of Kearney," Kristensen said. "And it will impact rural Nebraska."

UNK is partnering with a Salt Lake City-based real estate development and management company on the project. Woodbury Corporation has a long history of university collaborations dating back decades.

"Without the private, cooperative spirit that we've had, we would not be here this morning," Kristensen said.

Jeffrey Woodbury, the company's senior vice president of development and acquisitions, shares the chancellor's vision for the project. He called it a tool that will spur future development at the University Village site.

"To me, this is really an exciting time, because I know a lot more will come," Woodbury said.

Located along U.S. Highway 30 south of UNK's West Center building, University Village is a mixed-use, pedestrian-oriented neighborhood that combines educational, residential, commercial and recreational opportunities. Village Flats, the Ernest Grundy Tennis Center and Plambeck Early Childhood Education Center are all part of the development.

Joey Cochran, a UNK graduate and vice president of the University Village board, believes the Regional Engagement Center is an important addition.

"One of our many visions was to weave the community of Kearney and the university together. The Regional Engagement Center truly exemplifies that vision," he said. "It's going to be one of the cornerstones of University Village."

Sidney Sun-Telegraph

For 147 years, your Sun-Telegraph has been the newspaper that reflects your life. We have been there to share in your births, your school years, your sports victories. We went through the Great Depression together. Discovered flight. Went to the stars. Experienced tragedies. We watched our kids marching off to war and celebrated the men and women who returned. Grieved those that didn't. Good weather or bad, we stand with you. We are Your paper.

Times are tough. Inflation creeps higher. Gas prices are cutting into our budgets. Seems like everyone is charging more for less.

Everyone but your Sun-Telegraph.

Faced with rising costs, we too had to take stock. Go through some hassles. Draw some lines in the sand. Even changed printers to save our readers and advertisers money, now and moving forward.

So get excited! Instead of raising prices for subscriptions and advertising, we are keeping prices low, yet offering you MORE:

- Thursday Delivery Beginning September 8th, 2022
- An extra day to turn in advertising and notices
 - Larger Column Size
 - New Features

So whenever you pick up the paper, remember the one company that put YOU first. That didn't raise prices during hard times. Not for our readers, not for our advertisers. That is giving you more bang for your buck, not less. Support your local independent paper with your advertising dollars.

Join us for the next part of the journey.
